EXECUTIVE & LEADERSHIP COACHING

Perform at the top. Lead with clarity. Build what lasts.

Leadership effectiveness is not a natural extension of technical excellence. Most executives reach the top on the strength of their expertise — and plateau because of their behavior. The gap between a good manager and a truly effective leader is rarely about knowledge. It is about self-awareness, influence, and the ability to execute through others.

CLARITY

Clear priorities, sharp decisions, and a leader who knows what matters and why. Without clarity at the top, everything below it operates in fog.

INFLUENCE

The ability to align stakeholders, navigate complex dynamics, and drive change without relying on authority. Leadership is not a title. It is what happens in the room.

EXECUTION

Strategic intent without execution is just vision. Leaders who sustain high performance build teams that deliver — and cultures that do not burn out in the process.

Most leadership failures are not strategic. They are behavioral — often unnoticed until the team, the results, or the leader themselves starts to break.

THE NUMBERS

Leadership effectiveness has a direct, measurable impact on business outcomes. These numbers are not about soft skills. They are about hard results.

- 77% of organizations report a leadership gap as their most significant talent challenge (DDI Global Leadership Forecast 2023)
- Only 23% of employees strongly agree their leader has clear direction for the team (Gallup, 2023)
- Managers account for at least 70% of the variance in employee engagement (Gallup)
- Poor leadership is the number one reason employees leave — ahead of compensation and workload

For organizations, weak leadership is not a people problem. It is a performance problem.

- Disengaged teams cost businesses 18% of their annual salary in lost productivity (Gallup)
- High-performing leaders generate up to 48% higher profit for their business units
- Leadership development ROI averages 25% improvement in business results within 12 months
- Teams led by highly effective coaches show 21% higher profitability

The question is not whether leadership quality affects your results. It is whether you are investing in it before the cost of weak leadership becomes visible.

FOR INDIVIDUALS

A structured, confidential coaching program for executives, senior leaders, and high-potential managers. Built for leaders who are already delivering — and want to lead at a higher level without burning out their teams.

The program follows a clear sequence: baseline, one key behavioral shift, inner game, influence and high-stakes conversations, execution, team engagement, and sustainment.

What you work on:

- Leadership baseline, blind spots, and the one shift with most impact
- Limiting beliefs that undermine strategic decision-making
- High-stakes conversations: influence, alignment, difficult messages
- Shift from tactical firefighting to strategic leadership
- Team engagement: build, challenge, lead without micromanaging

Program: 7 sessions, 50 min each. Review, focus, deep inquiry, accountability. Built around you.

FOR TEAMS & ORGANIZATIONS

A structured leadership coaching program for executive teams, management layers, or organizations investing in their leadership pipeline.

What the program addresses:

- Leadership effectiveness at individual and team level
- Behavioral patterns limiting team performance and engagement
- Communication, influence, and alignment across the organization
- Strategic execution: how leadership translates vision into results
- Culture: what leaders model, teams replicate

Outcome: More effective leaders, higher engagement, stronger execution, and a culture that sustains performance without burning people out.

Program: Co-created with the organization. Format and scope are defined after an initial scoping conversation.

THE METHOD

Coaching is a structured, confidential process that helps you think more clearly under pressure, make better decisions, and act more deliberately. It does not diagnose, prescribe, or give answers. It builds your capacity to find them.

It is not therapy. It is not consulting. Therapy works with the past. Consulting brings external solutions. Coaching works with what you already know, what you are not yet seeing clearly, and what is getting in the way.

“Leadership is not about being in charge. It is about being clear on what you stand for — and having the courage to act on it.”

The goal is not to become a different person. It is to become a more deliberate version of the leader you already are.

Every session is confidential. The process is ICF-aligned and built on psychological safety.

THE BUSINESS CASE FOR COACHING

Investing in coaching is not a welfare initiative. It is a performance decision with measurable returns. Organizations that invest in structured coaching and well-being initiatives report:

7x

studies report average returns of up to 7x the investment in coaching

23%

higher employee engagement in teams with active coaching support

39%

improvement in stress management among coached employees

22%

lower turnover rates among coached employees

70%

of coached employees show measurable improvement in work performance

30%

reduction in healthcare costs linked to well-being programs

DANIEL STAMIN

Twenty-five years of business experience across oil and gas, pharma, FMCG, finance, and a dozen other industries. Management consultant, trainer, coach. Probably overqualified to help you, definitely invested in doing it well.

I spent 14 years training people in behavioral and leadership skills before I understood that the hardest skill is knowing when to stop pushing and start listening. That realization is more or less what made me a coach.

Over 1,000 hours of one-to-one and team coaching since 2015. I bring the structure of a consultant, the patience of a trainer, and the self-awareness of a recovering perfectionist who is still very much in recovery.
